Dear [redacted]

Sorry to have missed your call this morning. I am leaving for a brief vacation this afternoon and, before going, wish to thank you for your good services with [redacted]. We will be awfully happy to get this matter cleared up to the satisfaction of these men.

I am enclosing a list of the Executive Committee of the Association and, if we do not hear that [redacted] intends to drop the matter, I will ask Matt Baird to check with you as to whether you have an intimate acquaintance with any of these people. The most we would want to do, if [redacted] brings the matter before the Executive Council of the Association, is to have someone on the Council ask him to present the correspondence with this Agency.

Thanks again for your help.

Sincerely,

Stuart Hedden
Inspector General
